

A decorative border of basketballs surrounds the central text. The basketballs are arranged in a roughly rectangular shape, with some overlapping. Each basketball is rendered with a stippled texture and curved lines to show its spherical shape and panels. Some basketballs have dashed lines around them, suggesting motion or a specific position. The border is complete on the left and bottom sides, with a vertical line of basketballs on the right side that ends in a crown-like shape at the top.
